Earth Meets Wind of Portfolio Films International has won the prestigious Gold Kush Award for Documentary Films from the Humboldt International Award. The award was given to Earth Meets Wind for the outstanding technique and unique imagination exhibited by the documentary's storyline and characters.

Stu Higton, Executive producer said, "It's great to be recognized for this documentary which is a confirmation that great documentaries come out of perseverance and faith in serendipity."

The documentary features the meeting of Komang Arnawa, a famous international body building champion from Bali, Indonesia and Cinderella Che, a professional dancer and choreographer from the USA. They meet in Los Angeles, California to create a unique performance-art piece, combining Komang's spiritual approach to body building and Cinderella's inspiring approach to dance.
